Manage Your Money with these Helpful Apps

Gas Buddy

With gas prices increasing every single day, this app can save you a few pennies. It gives you a list of the gas stations near you, the price per gallon, and directions to the station.

And at nearly $4 a gallon, shaving a few dollars off each trip to the pump can add up to over a hundred bucks a year!

iXpenseIt

At $4.99 (the lite version is free), this app lets you track and control multiple budgets and stores pictures of all your receipts. It shows you trends on where you're spending your money.

BillMinder

Use this app to remind yourself when each of your bills is due. This is especially useful if you're just starting out in the "real world" and remembering to pay bills is something new to you. The regular version costs .99 cents, but the lite version is free.

Bloomberg Mobile

Companies pay big money to have a Bloomberg data terminal on site (right around $1,500 a month), so why not take advantage of this free app? It shows up-to-the-minute news, stock quotes, company descriptions, and price chart and market trend analysis.

Tipulator

Admit it, at the end of a scrumptious meal the last thing you feel like doing is figuring out how much to tip your server—even if the math is elementary. So for $1.99, you can buy an app to do it for you.

Day Bank

Day Bank is a pocket-sized check register that, unlike other apps, is well suited for entering transactions and tracking cash spending. At $1.99, speedy transaction entry and the ability to photograph receipts or purchased items make Day Bank unique.
